RE: Conference Call

As you will recall, at our last meeting in Chicago we agreed to hold another conference call to review the principal substantive revisions to the text of the act once I had those revisions ready for circulation. To that end, please find attached a tracked-changes version of the act with those revisions indicated and a clean version with them accepted.

Contemporaneous with this distribution, the Chicago office will be polling your availability for a call in the next week or so.

Please note that the revisions are not complete. I have undertaken almost no work on the comments; I have not attended to a handful of reconciliation changes such as making uniform the list of officers that appears in a few sections; and I have not undertaken to proofread the revisions either. I intend to work on the reconciliation changes when I make the additional substantive revisions that no doubt will be indicated by our conference call. The text of the act will then go to the style committee for review, whereupon I will begin work on the comments. The comments are the last priority, because I am allowed to keep working on them even after the summer meeting. The current priority is to get the black letter in order.

Please feel free to email me comments or suggestions before or after the conference call.
