The catalyst for the new Uniform Power of Attorney Act ("the Act") was a national study in 2002 which revealed growing divergence in state power of attorney legislation. The original Uniform Durable Power of Attorney Act ("Original Act"), last amended in 1987, was at one time followed by all but a few jurisdictions. Despite initial uniformity, the study found that a majority of states had enacted non-uniform provisions to deal with specific matters upon which the Original Act is silent. The topics about which there was increasing divergence included: 1) the authority of multiple agents; 2) the authority of a later-appointed fiduciary or guardian; 3) the impact of dissolution or annulment of the principal’s marriage to the agent; 4) activation of contingent powers; 5) the authority to make gifts; and 6) standards for agent conduct and liability. Other topics about which states had legislated, although not necessarily in a divergent manner, included: successor agents, execution requirements, portability, sanctions for dishonor of a power of attorney, and restrictions on powers that have the potential to dissipate a principal’s property or alter a principal’s estate plan.

To ascertain whether there was actual divergence of opinion about default rules for powers of attorney or only the lack of a detailed uniform model, the Joint Editorial Board for Uniform Trust and Estate Acts (JEB) conducted a national survey. The survey was distributed to probate and elder law sections of all state bar associations, to the fellows of the American College of Trust and Estate Counsel, the leadership of the ABA Section of Real Property, Probate and Trust Law and the National Academy of Elder Law Attorneys, as well as to special interest listserves of the ABA Commission on Law and Aging. Forty-four jurisdictions were represented in the 371 surveys returned.

The survey responses demonstrated a consensus of opinion in excess of seventy percent that a power of attorney statute should:

1. provide for a confirming affidavit to activate contingent powers;
2. revoke a spouse-agent’s authority upon the dissolution or annulment of the marriage to the principal;
3. include a portability provision;
4. require gift making authority to be expressly stated in the grant of authority;
5. provide a default standard for fiduciary duties;
6. permit the principal to alter the default fiduciary standard;
7. require notice by an agent when the agent is no longer willing or able to act;
8. include safeguards against abuse by the agent;
9. include remedies and sanctions for abuse by the agent;
10. protect the reliance of other persons on a power of attorney; and
11. include remedies and sanctions for refusal of other persons to honor a power of attorney.
Informed by the study and survey results, the Conference drafted the Act to reflect both state legislative trends and collective best practices. While the Act is primarily a set of default rules that can be altered by specific provisions within a power of attorney, the Act also contains certain safeguards for the protection of an incapacitated principal. The Act was drafted to strike a balance between the need for flexibility and acceptance of an agent’s authority and the need to prevent and redress abuse.

Among the provisions that enhance flexibility are the statutory definitions of powers in Article 2 which can be incorporated by reference in an individually drafted power of attorney or selected for inclusion on the optional statutory form provided in Article 3. The statutory definitions of enumerated powers are an updated version of those in the Uniform Statutory Form Power of Attorney Act (1988), which the Act supersedes. The national study found that seventeen jurisdictions had adopted some type of statutory form power of attorney. The decision to include a statutory form power of attorney in the Act was based on this trend and the proliferation of power of attorney forms currently available to the public.

Sections 119 and 120 of the Act address the problem of persons refusing to honor an agent’s authority. Section 119 provides protection from liability for persons who in good faith accept the agent’s authority. This section also prohibits such persons from requiring a different form of power of attorney. Section 120 sanctions refusal to accept an agent’s authority unless the refusal meets limited statutory exceptions.

In exchange for mandated acceptance of an agent’s authority, the Act does not require persons who deal with an agent to investigate the agent or the agent’s actions. Instead, safeguards against abuse are provided through heightened requirements for delegating authority that could dissipate the principal’s property or alter the principal’s estate plan (Section 201(c)), provisions that set out the agent’s duties and liabilities (Sections 114 and 117) and by specification of the categories of persons who have standing to request judicial review of the agent’s conduct (Section 116). A provision that gives the reviewing court discretion to award attorney’s fees to the prevailing party (Section 116(c)) serves to both deter frivolous actions and facilitate redress where warranted.

Overview of the Uniform Power of Attorney Act

The Act consists of 4 articles. The basic substance of the Act is located in Articles 1 and 2. Article 3 contains the optional statutory form and Article 4 consists of miscellaneous provisions dealing with general application of the Act and repeal of certain prior acts. The following is a brief overview.

Article 1 – General Provisions and Definitions – Section 102 lists definitions which are useful in interpretation of the Act. Of particular note is the definition of “incapacity” which replaces the term “disability” used in the Original Act. The definition of “incapacity” is taken from the Uniform Guardianship and Protective Proceedings Act as amended in 1997. Another significant change in terminology from the Original Act is the use of “agent” in place of the term “attorney in fact”. The term “agent” was also used in the Uniform Statutory Form Power of Attorney Act and is intended to clarify confusion in the lay public about the meaning of “attorney in fact.” Section 103 provides that the Act is to apply broadly to all powers of attorney, but excepts from the Act powers of attorney for health care and certain specialized powers such as those coupled with an interest or dealing with proxy voting.

Another innovation is the presumption of durability contained in Section 105. This change reflects the view that most principals prefer their powers of attorney to be durable rather than non-durable. No longer must a durable power of attorney include language indicating that the authority conferred is exercisable notwithstanding the principal’s subsequent disability or incapacity. A power of attorney executed under the Act is durable unless it contains express language indicating otherwise. While the Original Act was silent on execution requirements for a power of attorney, Section 106 requires the principal’s signature and provides that an acknowledged signature is presumed genuine. Section 107 is a portability provision for powers of attorney not executed under the Act and Section 108 states the guidelines for interpretation of such powers.

Section 109 addresses the relationship of the agent to a later court-appointed fiduciary. The Original Act conferred upon a conservator or other later-appointed fiduciary the same power to revoke or amend the power of attorney as the principal would have had prior to incapacity. In contrast, the Act reserves this power to the court and states that the agent’s authority continues until limited, suspended, or terminated by the court. This approach reflects greater deference for the previously expressed preferences of the principal and is consistent with the Uniform Guardianship and Protective Proceedings Act.

The default rule for when a power of attorney becomes effective is stated in Section 110. Unless the principal specifies that it is to become effective upon a future date, event, or contingency, the authority of an agent under a power of attorney becomes effective when the power is executed. Section 110 permits the principal to designate who may determine when contingent powers are triggered. The determination of a person designated by the principal may be considered conclusive by those relying on the power of attorney. If the trigger for contingent powers is the principal’s incapacity, Section 110 provides that the person designated to make that determination has the authority to act as the principal’s personal representative under the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) for purposes of accessing the principal’s health care information and communicating with the principal’s health care provider. This provision does not, however, confer upon an agent the authority to make health care decisions for the principal. If the trigger for contingent powers is incapacity but the principal has not designated anyone to make the determination, or the person authorized is unable or unwilling to make the determination, the statute provides for determination by a physician or licensed psychologist as a default position.
The bases for termination of a power of attorney are covered in Section 111. In response to concerns expressed in the JEB survey, the Act provides as the default rule that authority granted to a principal’s spouse is revoked upon the commencement of proceedings for legal separation, marital dissolution or annulment and not only upon entry of the final order.

Sections 112 through 118 address matters related to the agent, including default rules for compensation, reimbursement, agent duties and liability. Section 115 provides that a principal may lower the standard of liability for agent conduct subject to a minimum level of accountability for actions taken dishonestly, with an improper motive, or with reckless indifference to the purposes of the power of attorney. Section 116 sets out a comprehensive list of persons who may petition the court to review the agent’s conduct. An agent may resign by following the notice procedures described in Section 118.

Sections 119 and 120 are included in the Act to address the frequently reported problem of persons who refuse to accept an agent’s authority. Section 119 protects persons who accept an agent’s authority without knowledge that a power of attorney is revoked, terminated, or invalid or that the agent is exceeding or improperly exercising the agent’s powers. A person who accepts an agent’s authority in good faith is not required to make inquiry into the extent of the agent’s powers or the propriety of their exercise, and may rely on an agent’s certification as to any matter concerning the power of attorney or the principal. In exchange for this protection, Section 120(a) imposes liability for refusal to accept an agent’s authority subject to limited exceptions in Section 120(b).

Section 121 clarifies that the Act is supplemented by existing bodies of law, including the common law and principles of equity. While the principles of common law and equity may supplement the provisions of the Act, the Uniform Power of Attorney Act preempts principles of common law and equity that are inconsistent with either its provisions or its purposes and policies. Section 122 clarifies that the remedies under the Act are not exclusive and do not abrogate any other cause of action or remedy that may be available under the law of the enacting jurisdiction.

Article 2 – Powers – The Act offers the drafting attorney enhanced flexibility whether drafting an individually tailored power of attorney or using the statutory form. Like the Uniform Statutory Form Power of Attorney Act, Article 2 of the Act sets forth detailed descriptions of powers that can be conveyed to an agent. Section 202 provides that these powers can be incorporated by reference using the short descriptive captions or section numbers in Article 2. These definitions also provide the meaning for the powers enumerated on the optional statutory form in Article 3. Section 202 further states that these powers may be modified in the power of attorney.

Article 2 also addresses concerns about the grant of specific powers that could be used to dissipate the principal’s property or alter the principal’s estate plan. Section 201(c) lists the powers that cannot be implied from a general grant of authority, but which must instead be delegated through express inclusion in the power of attorney. Section 201(b) clarifies that unless a power of attorney otherwise provides, an agent may not create in the agent or in a person to whom the agent owes a legal obligation of support an interest in the principal’s property, whether by gift, right of survivorship, beneficiary designation, disclaimer, or otherwise.

Article 3 – Statutory Form Power of Attorney – The optional form in Article 3 is designed for use by lawyers as well as lay persons. It contains, in plain language, instructions to the principal and agent. Step-by-step prompts are given for designation of the agent, successor agents, and the grant of powers. In the grant of powers section, the principal must initial the powers that the principal wishes to delegate to the agent. There is a separate list of the Section 201(c) powers, preceded by a warning to the agent about the extraordinary scope of those powers. The form also clarifies that the agent may not use the principal’s property to benefit the agent or a person to whom the agent owes a legal obligation of support unless the principal includes special instructions to permit such actions.

Article 4 – Miscellaneous Provisions – The miscellaneous provisions in Article 4 clarify that the Act is intended to have the widest possible effect within constitutional limitations. Enacting jurisdictions should repeal their existing power of attorney statutes, including, if applicable, the Uniform Durable Power of Attorney Act, The Uniform Statutory Form Power of Attorney Act, and Article 5, Part 5 of the Uniform Probate Code.
UNIFORM POWER OF ATTORNEY ACT

(5) “Incapacity” means inability of an individual to manage property or business affairs because of an impairment in the ability to receive and evaluate information or make or communicate decisions even with the use of technological assistance, or because the individual is missing, detained, or unable to return to the United States.

(6) “Person” means an individual, corporation, business trust, estate, trust, partnership, limited liability company, association, joint venture, public corporation, government or governmental subdivision, agency or instrumentality, or any other legal or commercial entity.
(7) “Power of attorney” means a signed writing or other record in which a principal grants authority to an agent to act as attorney in fact for the principal.

(8) “Principal” means an individual who grants authority to an agent in a power of attorney.

(9) “Property” means anything that may be the subject of ownership, whether real or personal, legal or equitable, or any interest therein.

The term includes an Indian tribe or band recognized by federal law or formally acknowledged by a state.

SECTION 103. SCOPE, EXCEPTIONS, AND EXCLUSIONS. This [act] applies to all powers of attorney except:

(1) to the extent a power of attorney is coupled with an interest in the subject of the power;

(2) a power given to another person to make health-care decisions;

(3) a proxy given to another person to exercise voting rights;
(4) a power given to or for the benefit of a creditor in connection with a credit transaction;

(5) a power contained in the governing document of a corporation, business trust, partnership, limited liability company, association, joint venture, or any other legal or commercial entity by which a director, trustee, partner, member, or other officer authorizes others to act on behalf of the entity; and

(6) one created for a governmental purpose on a form prescribed by a government or governmental subdivision, agency, or other instrumentality.

SECTION 104. KNOWLEDGE; NOTICE.

(a) Subject to subsection (b), a person has knowledge of a fact involving a power of attorney if the person:

(1) has actual knowledge of it;

(2) has received a notice or notification of it; or

(3) from all the facts and circumstances known to the person at the time in question, has reason to know it.

(b) An organization has notice or knowledge of a fact involving a power of attorney from the time it is brought to the attention of the individual conducting a transaction involving the power of attorney and, in any event, from the time it would have been brought to the individual’s attention if the organization had exercised reasonable diligence. An organization exercises reasonable diligence if it maintains reasonable routines for communicating significant information to the individual conducting the transaction and the organization reasonably complies with the routines. Reasonable diligence does not require an individual acting for the organization to communicate information unless the communication is part of the individual’s duties or the individual has reason to know of the transaction and that the transaction would be materially affected by the information. If an organization conducts activities through branch or multiple offices, notice to a branch or office other than the office where the power of attorney is presented is attributable to the individual conducting the transaction not later than three business days after the date of notice to the branch or other office.

SECTION 105. POWER OF ATTORNEY NOT AFFECTED BY INCAPACITY.
A power of attorney is durable unless it expressly provides that it is terminated by the incapacity of the principal.

SECTION 106. CREATION. A power of attorney must be signed by the principal or by another individual directed by the principal to sign the principal’s name on the power of attorney in the principal’s presence. The signature is presumed genuine if the principal acknowledges the signature before a notary public or another individual authorized to take acknowledgments.

SECTION 107. VALIDITY OF POWER OF ATTORNEY NOT EXECUTED UNDER THIS [ACT].
(a) A power of attorney executed in another state or country is valid and enforceable in this state if its creation complied when executed with:

(1) the law of the state or country in which the power of attorney was executed;

(2) the law of this state; or

(3) the law of the state or country where the principal intended the agent to act on behalf of the principal.

(b) A power of attorney executed in this state before the effective date of this [act] is valid and enforceable in this state if its creation complied with the law of this state as it existed at the time of execution.

SECTION 108. INTERPRETATION OF POWER OF ATTORNEY NOT EXECUTED UNDER THIS [ACT]. If the authority granted in a power of attorney not executed under this [act] conflicts with provisions of this [act], the scope of authority granted controls unless the public policy of this state prohibits or restricts what the terms of the power of attorney purport to authorize. This [act] may not be applied to enlarge the scope of authority granted to an agent in a power of attorney not executed under this [act].

SECTION 109. NOMINATION OF GUARDIAN; RELATION OF AGENT TO COURT-APPOINTED FIDUCIARY.

(a) In a power of attorney, a principal may nominate a conservator, guardian of the principal’s estate, or guardian of the principal’s person for consideration by the court if protective proceedings for the principal’s estate or person are thereafter commenced. [Except for good cause or disqualification, the court shall make its appointment in accordance with the principal's most recent nomination in a power of attorney.]

(b) If, after a principal executes a power of attorney, a court appoints a conservator or guardian of the principal’s estate or other fiduciary charged with the management of all of the principal's property or all of the property except specified exclusions, the agent is accountable to the fiduciary as well as to the principal. [The agent’s authority continues until limited, suspended, or terminated by the court.]
SECTION 110. WHEN EFFECTIVE.

(a) An agent’s authority under a power of attorney becomes effective when executed unless the principal specifies in the power of attorney that it is to become effective at a future date or upon the occurrence of a future event or contingency.

(b) If a power of attorney becomes effective upon the occurrence of a future event or contingency, the principal may authorize in the power of attorney one or more persons to determine conclusively in a writing or other record that the event or contingency has occurred.

(c) If a power of attorney becomes effective upon the principal’s incapacity and the principal has not authorized a person to determine that the principal is incapacitated, or the person authorized is unable or unwilling to make the determination, the power of attorney becomes effective upon a determination in a writing or other record by a physician [or licensed psychologist] that the principal is incapacitated.

(d) A person authorized by the principal in the power of attorney to determine that the principal is incapacitated may act as the principal’s personal representative pursuant to Sections 1171 through 1179 of the Social Security Act, 42 U.S.C. Section 1320d [or similar provisions later enacted] and applicable regulations, to obtain access to the principal’s health care information and communicate with the principal’s health care provider or physician.

SECTION 111. TERMINATION OF POWER OF ATTORNEY.

(a) Subject to subsections (b), (c), (d), and (e), a power of attorney terminates when:

(1) the principal dies;

(2) the principal becomes incapacitated, if the power of attorney is not durable;

(3) the principal revokes the power of attorney or terminates the agent’s authority;

(4) the agent dies or is adjudged incapacitated;

(5) the agent resigns pursuant to Section 118;

(6) proceedings are commenced for the [legal separation or divorce of the principal and agent] [dissolution or annulment of the agent’s marriage to the principal];

(7) the power of attorney states that it will be terminated or an event occurs which under the power of attorney terminates it; or

(8) the purpose of the power of attorney is accomplished.

(b) Unless a power of attorney otherwise provides, the power of attorney is not terminated by the termination of an agent’s authority if the power of attorney provides for a co-agent or successor agent.

(c) The authority of an agent under a power of attorney is exercisable until the power of attorney terminates notwithstanding a lapse of time since the execution of the power of attorney.

(d) Termination of an agent’s authority, revocation of the power of attorney by the principal, or death of the principal does not terminate a power of attorney as to an agent or other person that, without knowledge of the termination, revocation, or death, acts in good faith under the power of attorney. An act so performed, unless otherwise invalid or unenforceable, binds the principal and successors in interest of the principal.

(e) The incapacity of a principal who has previously executed a power of attorney that is not durable does not revoke or terminate the power of attorney as to an agent or other person that, without knowledge of the incapacity, acts in good faith under the power of attorney.
An act so performed, unless otherwise invalid or unenforceable, binds the principal and successors in interest of the principal.
(f) The execution of a power of attorney does not revoke a power of attorney previously executed by the principal unless the power of attorney states that the previous power of attorney is revoked or that all other powers of attorney are revoked.

SECTION 112. CO-AGENTS AND SUCCESSOR AGENTS.

(a) A principal may designate two or more persons to act as co-agents. Unless a power of attorney otherwise provides:

(1) authority granted to co-agents is exercisable only by their majority consent, or if there are two co-agents, their unanimous consent;

(2) if prompt action is required to accomplish a purpose of the power of attorney or to avoid irreparable injury to the principal’s interests and a co-agent is unavailable because of absence, illness, or other temporary incapacity, the other co-agent or co-agents may act for the principal; and

(3) if a co-agent resigns, dies, becomes incapacitated, is not qualified to serve, or declines to serve, the remaining co-agent or co-agents may act for the principal.

(b) A principal may designate one or more successor agents to act if an agent resigns, dies, becomes incapacitated, is not qualified to serve, or declines to serve. A principal may grant authority to another person, designated by name, by office, or by function, including an agent, to designate one or more successor agents. Unless a power of attorney otherwise provides:

(1) a successor agent has the same authority as that initially granted to the agent; and

(2) a successor agent may not act until all predecessor agents have resigned, died, become incapacitated, are no longer qualified to serve, or have declined to serve.

(c) An agent is not liable for the actions of another agent, including a predecessor agent, unless the agent participates in or conceals a breach of fiduciary duty committed by the other agent. An agent who has knowledge of a breach or imminent breach of fiduciary duty by another agent shall notify the principal and, if the principal is incapacitated, take any action reasonably appropriate in the circumstances to safeguard the principal’s best interests.

SECTION 113. REIMBURSEMENT AND COMPENSATION OF AGENT. An agent is entitled to reimbursement of expenses properly incurred on behalf of the principal. Unless otherwise provided in a power of attorney, the agent is entitled to compensation that is reasonable under the circumstances.

SECTION 114. AGENT’S DUTIES.

(a) A person accepts appointment as an agent under a power of attorney by exercising powers or performing duties as an agent or by any other assertion or conduct indicating acceptance.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in the power of attorney, an agent who has accepted appointment shall:

(1) act loyally for the principal’s benefit in accordance with the reasonable expectations of the principal known to the agent and, if unknown, with the care, competence, and diligence normally exercised by agents in similar circumstances for the best interest of a principal;

(2) avoid creating a conflict of interest that would impair the agent’s ability to act impartially in the best interest of the principal;

(3) keep a complete record of all receipts, disbursements, and transactions conducted on behalf of the principal;

(4) not perform any act beyond the authority granted by the principal;

(5) cooperate with a person that has authority to make health-care decisions for the principal to carry out the principal’s expectations known to the agent and, if unknown, to act in what the agent reasonably believes to be the best interest of the principal; and

(6) take the principal’s estate plan into account to the extent known to the agent and attempt to preserve the plan if consistent with the principal’s best interest based on all relevant factors, including the principal’s foreseeable obligations and need for maintenance; minimization of income, estate, inheritance, generation-skipping transfer, or gift taxes; and the principal’s eligibility for public benefits or assistance.

(c) An agent who acts in good faith is not liable to any beneficiary of the principal’s estate plan for failure to preserve the plan.

(d) An agent that acts with care, competence, and diligence for the best interest of the principal is not liable solely because the agent also benefits from the act or has an individual or conflicting interest in relation to the property or affairs of the principal.

(e) Special skills or expertise possessed by an agent must be considered in determining whether the agent has acted with due care, competence, and diligence under the circumstances.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

This power of attorney authorizes another person, your agent, to make decisions concerning your property for you, the principal. Your agent can make decisions and act with respect to your property (including your money) even if you are unable to act for yourself. The meaning of powers listed in this document is explained in the Uniform Power of Attorney Act. This power of attorney does not authorize the agent to make medical or health-care decisions for you.

You should select someone you trust to serve as your agent. The agent’s authority will continue until your death unless you revoke the power of attorney or the agent resigns. If your agent is unable or unwilling to act for you, your power of attorney will end unless you have named a successor agent. You may also name a second successor agent.

This power of attorney becomes effective immediately unless you state otherwise in the Special Instructions.

Before signing this document, you should seek legal advice if you have questions about the power of attorney or the authority you are granting to your agent.
